

Frequently Asked Questions

U.S. AIR FORCE

Q: What are the benefits of joining before the start of my senior year?

A: With a waiting list of 6-12 months to join the Air Force, Jump start applicant have a job reserved and departure date for basic training before their senior year starts.

Q: Does the Jump Start Program limit the type of job I can do?

A: Quite the opposite, participants of the program improve their chances of getting matched to one of their top job choices.

Q: Will I have to leave for basic training before I graduate?

A: No, You won't depart for basic training until after you graduate. You will however, know what your career field is and the date you leave for basic training.

Q: Does it matter when I apply for the program?

A: As long as you join the program prior to the application deadline (April-August) you'll be fine. However, the sooner you apply the better because there are a limited number of jobs.

Q: My school has already ASVAB tested and I missed the date. How do I get scheduled?
